

Adayana and National Technical Information Service Enter a Joint Venture Agreement to Provide Services to Federal Government Agencies

Falls Church, VA. August 18, 2010 – Adayana Government Group announced that it has entered into a joint venture agreement with the National Technical Information Service (NTIS) to offer a variety of e-Learning and consulting services to other Federal agencies. NTIS is an approved Office of Personnel Management provider of Distance Learning, Human Capital Management and Knowledge Management (e-Training) services to Federal agencies. Following execution of a simple interagency memorandum of understanding and provision of funding, U.S. Federal agencies can engage NTIS to gain access to custom e-learning and consulting services from Adayana. Services offered include learning solutions and delivery, managed learning services, strategy and management consulting, branding and strategic communications, and implementation of performance technologies.

“This partnership provides a unique path for U. S. Federal agencies to acquire essential e-Learning and consulting services to help them achieve their human capital development goals,” stated Adayana Government Group President, Jeff Kidwell. “Enabling Government and Industry to work together as partners in defining e-Learning and consulting solutions allows us to be nimble and offer innovative solutions to customer requirements.” Specific information on NTIS e-Learning solutions can be found at www.ntis.gov/services/partnerships.aspx.
